Statement of Removal

Removal 01

The following article which was published in International Journal of Case Reports and Images has been removed from publication by agreement between the authors and the journal.

Authors requested removal of the article due to “multiple errors and deficiencies”. After careful consideration, we remove this article from the literature in accordance with guidelines and best editorial practices from the Committee on Publication Ethics.

An internal investigation has raised sufficient concerns about plagiarism/duplicate publication. After careful consideration, we retract this article from the literature in accordance with guidelines and best editorial practices from the Committee on Publication Ethics.

The article is removed from International Journal of Case Reports and Images.